Do You Want to Know What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all carping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not beget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY, in copies of The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 500,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.50 per copy. Last year we gave away $30,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away $50,000 worth of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only for book in stiff paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

MRS. BASSETT'S SUIT.

Mrs. Bassett's fifth day on the witness stand in her divorce suit against Chas. C. Bassett, of Washington, opened in Omaha yesterday morning with no abatement of interest.

The defense is still continuing its efforts to prove that Mrs. Bassett went to Omaha for the purpose of getting this divorce. Proof of this kind would tend to throw the case out of court. On redirect examination yesterday Mrs. Bassett swore that Rev. Mr. Hunt had not advised her to go to Omaha for the purpose of getting a divorce.

A deposition by Eliza White, a nurse at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, was read and ordered admitted at the proper time. The deposition says: "The conduct of Rev. Mr. Hunt and Mrs. Bassett was very devoted while Mrs. Bassett was in the hospital. One day I was behind a screen when Hunt came in. He rushed to Mrs. Bassett and kissed her.

"Another time Mrs. Bassett was in an invalid chair, wrapped in a kimona only. I left the room, leaving Rev. Mr. Hunt with her. When I returned he had picked her up in his arm and put her in bed.

"Mrs Bassett kept Hunt's photograph by her. She did not have one of her husband's around. Their whole conduct toward each other was disgusting."

In answer to a question put to Mrs. Bassett regarding the maintenance of Lawrence, the youngest child, Bassett's lawyers announced: "We grant Bassett did not support Lawrence; we claim Lawrence is not Bassett's son."

Mrs. Bassett stated that when she left Atlantic City, on her way to the West for a divorce, Rev. Mr Hunt accompanied her to Philadelphia, and followed on to Washington the next day. Rev. Mr. Hunt also accompanied Mrs. Bassett from Baltimore over to Atlantic City, occupying a room next to her own which had been reserved under Mrs. Bassett's name.

Porter Saves Train.

Presence of mind and promptness on the part of Joseph Williams, a colored porter on the Pullman car Philadelphia, probably prevented a serious wreck of the Congressional Limited, one of the fastest trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad, on the Gunpowder river bridge about 7 o'clock last night.

The train comprising of six Pullmans, with a smoker and diner, was en route from New York, and was crossing the bridge at a rate of about thirty miles an hour. Suddenly from under the floor of the dining car, the second coach of the train, a terrific noise was heard, and at the same time the floor of the car began to vibrate as though it were being dragged over a cobble paved street.

Williams, who was in the chair car behind, heard the noise, and, divining that something was wrong, jerked the emergency brake cord. The train quickly slowed, but not before the porter had pulled the cord to its utmost, thus locking every wheel.

An investigation showed that the rear truck of the diner had jumped the track, and that all that prevented the coach from plunging from the bridge into the water, and probably taking the rear cars with it, was the guard rail.

It was found that the train had run several hundred feet with the truck off the tracks. The passengers recognized that the porter's prompt action had avoided an accident, which might have proved fatal to many, for the water under the bridge is at least a dozen feet deep. They showed their gratitude over their escape by presenting the porter with a purse of $50.

Escaped from Jail.

Three white prisoners made an ingenious and daring escape from the Petersburg jail about 4 o'clock yesterday morning by filing out an inch square iron bar to their cell window and suspending from the window sill to the top of the jail yard a bridge made of two sides of a bedstead in their cell, lashed together with pieces of the mattress and bed clothing, across which they crawled at a height of 40 feet above the jail yard.

The fugitives are L. E. Ravenback, E. P. Pitt and A. J. Gregory, all sentenced to six months for swindling and robbery. Ravenback and Pitt were convicted in the Mayor's Court only a few days ago of falsely representing themselves as agents for a Philadelphia magazine and collecting many subscriptions. Gregory was serving a six months' sentence for robbing a boarding-house in Petersburg. Gregory's pal, M. K. Suter, and another prisoner named Richard Taylor were in the cell with the escaping men, but apparently made no effort to join them.

When City Sergeant John B. Evans examined the cell yesterday morning four small steel saws were found sewed up in clothes formerly worn by Emmet Poarch, a wife murderer, who was taken to the state penitentiary only a few days ago, so it is likely that Poarch did much of the work and just missed gaining freedom.

Vatican "Not Reassured."

The action of the French Chamber of Deputies Tuesday in voting to support the government's policy in the matter of the separation of church and state has not modified the Vatican's attitude. It is stated that "if a large majority of the notorious enemies of the church approved M. Briand's policy this does not reassure the Vatican in regard to the proposed contracts for the lease of the churches, which contain many points difficult to arrange."

The keynote to the situation in France was sounded yesterday by the Nouvelliste, of Lyons, France, a Catholic organ, which openly accuses Mgr. Amiette, the Coadjutor-Archbishop of Paris, of carrying out the negotiations with the Prefect of the Seine, M. de Selves, in a manner which conveys the idea "that they may lead to the capitulation of the church to M. Briand's policy." As the statement of the Nouvelliste reflects the views of the headquarters of the French church, it show the danger of disunion among the French episcopacy if the negotiations continue to be intrusted to Mgr. Amiette.

Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 21, 1907.

ACCORDING to dispatches from Berlin, Japan is guilty of acts similar to those which have brought on the recent diplomatic complications between the Mikado's government and the United States. The Japanese protested against the segregation of their children in separate schools in California, and now China charges the Mikado's government with excluding children of the celestial empire from schools in Japan. One of the Washington newspapers persists in printing pessimistic articles concerning relations between the United States and Japan. Most all journals in the large cities have long ago dropped the subject and are talking of other affairs. It is has been stated repeatedly that, so far as can be seen, there is no likelihood of serious trouble between Japan and the United States—certainly not in regard to the California school troubles. A writer in the Baltimore Sun makes the following sensible observations:

Japan does not wish war. She desires release from her bonded indebtenness held in foreign bonds. Japan is adroit enough to bear the price of her foreign holders. This can best be done by a warlike attitude, which by keeping the markets nervous will gradually depreciate the market value of her bonds. Further, Japan is perfectly sure of England's backing in the east. If she can by her attitude toward the United States discredit the Anglo-Japanese alliance, her object would be attained. This rupture will also depress the value of her indebtedness by removing the English underwriting. Thus considered, we see how business-like is Japan's present attitude. Having whipped Russia, she will complete her war in the world's stock markets.

DR. HUNTER CORBETT, moderator, and Robert Speer, senior secretary, of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, were the chief speakers at the Auditorium in Omaha yesterday during the session of the Intersynodical Foreign Missionary Convention. Mr. Speer declared that the idea of evangelizing the whole world was not chimerical. In the year 1886 the Prophetic Convention met in Chicago. A diagram of the progress of Protestant missions during the past eighteen hundred years was exhibited. It was in the nature of a checkerboard, and, according to those who had prepared it, one small white square represented all that had been accomplished toward evangelising the world, from their stand point, during the entire era. Many well-meaning people imagine "civilization" and "evangelization" are synonyms. The United States, England, France and other foremost counties of the age are listed as Christian nations, but the percentage of people in each who conform their lives according to the sermon on the mount is small. The task of evangelizing the world is herculean, to say the least. Many turned from the Nazarene when He tabernacled with men, and the spirit of the world is still decidedly averse to the self-denying examples set forth in the New Testament.

REPORTS from Washington indicate that an arrangement has been perfected by means of which it is hoped to jam the ship subsidy bill through the House at night sessions if one hundred republican representatives can be prevailed upon to enter the conspiracy and thus secure the necessary quorum. The Philadelphia Record says: "This proposed after-dark burglarious assault on the federal treasury has a certain appropriateness. The Littauer bill will not successfully bear daylight scrutiny."

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.

Washington, Feb. 21.

Startling testimony was given today by Wibert Voschelle, the white corral boss at Fort Brown, to the Senate military committee in its investigation of the Brownsville affair. He said that at 5:30 on the afternoon of the 13th of August he went to the canteen to get his mail. As he was leaving he met Major Penrose, Mayor Combs and the quarantine officer of Brownsville whose name he afterwards learned was Evans. As he was passing witness heard Evans say: "Now major, if there is no arrests made between this hour and eleven o'clock every enlisted man that we see on the streets will be shot." Witness later learned that Evans was the husband of the woman who it was claimed had been assaulted by soldiers that afternoon. Evans was apparently very much excited and was gesticulating violently while talking with Major Penrose. Voschelle said that he lived outside the barracks and that he way aroused by the shooting on the night of August 13th. On his way from his home to the corral he saw two policemen running along the barracks. He did not see whether they had guns or not. He supposed they also had been aroused by the shooting. Witness said that a great many of the citizens of Brownsville, especially the Mexicans, were Knaki and that it was no an uncommon thing to hear shooting going on around the town. Many of the citizens had guns besides the members of the ranger force and the customs officers.

The jury in the trial of Representative Hermann, of Oregon, was temporarily dismissed today to allow counsel for the defense to argue their demurrer. They claim the indictment is insufficient.

An attachment for $37,000 for rent was levied today on the palatial home of A. L. Barber, the asphalt magnate, to satisfy the judgement of the New York Supreme Court.

Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, Feb. 21.

SENATE.

Mr. Depew introduced the following financial resolution in the Senate today, asking that it go over without action until tomorrow:

"Resolved, that the committee on finance be authorized to investigate and report what legislation, if any, may be necessary in relation to the deposit of public moneys and the issue of currency to prevent conditions of abnormal and dangerous rates of interest at certain periods of the year and provide such electricity in the currency that it would be more responsive to the conditions of business."

Senator Dubois introduced a resolution directing the Senate committee on judiciary to report next December a joint resolution calling upon the States to adopt an anti-polygamy amendment to the constitution, which is also to prohibit polygamists from holding federal office.

During the consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill in the Senate this afternoon Mr. Clark (dem. Wyo.) denounced the forestry service of the government, as the "damnation of the country" and declared that when any one dared raise his voice against its abuses, he was branded as a "timber baron," or a "grafter."

He said that in the few years since Congress had given the President the power to create forest reserves, there had been withdrawn from public utility over 200,000 square miles of fine land.

"And yet," he continued, "it is proposed to withdraw four hundred million acres more." He protested against the permitting of such powers to the forester as he now held and declared that their scope was not equaled by any king or potentate throughout the whole world.

HOUSE.

The House wants to know if the battleship Louisiana was really 100 per cent. complete when so reported June 11, 1906, and turned over to the government. The Louisiana, after a few months service, was laid up in the New York navy yards for "repairs." It is charged that the contractors did not complete their ship and that the government is now finishing her. The reason for the alleged haste of the contractors in turning her over to the government is said to have been a desire of the contractors to finish the Louisiana as quickly as the government built the sister ship Connecticut in a government navy yard.

The House today adopted a resolution, calling upon the Secretary of the Navy to inform the House about the nature, character and extent of the work being done on the Louisiana.

The House passed a bill against shanghaiing in the United States on any vessels of the United States engaged in navigating the high seas or any navigable waters of the United States, thus making more general the application of the shanghailing laws.

The House went into committee of the whole to consider the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The appropriation committee tried to cut off all general debate, except a statement by the republican members and by the democratic members of the committee, in order to rush through the bill to reach the ship subsidy bill.

When Represenative Sulzer was refused a half hours time for debate, he refused unanimous consent to cut off debate or to dispense with the first reading of the bill, which will require four hours time. Speaker Cannon after designating Mr. Watson as chairman of the committee of the whole, went to Sulker's seat and laid down the law to him. Sulzer, laughed. The speakers hair stood on end as he beheld valuable time consumed by the formal reading.

After fifteen minutes reading Mr William asked Chairman Watson to inquire of the clerk if he was not skipping pages in reading. Mr. Watson responded that every officer of the House was supposed to be faithful to his oath, but if the clerk unintentionally turned several pages at a time, it could not be helped.

EVELYN UNDER FIRE.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was under cross-examination all day yesterday and was called to the stand again today.

Jerome was unable to shake her story and did not damage her cause. She was composed throughout the day.

Both Mrs. Thaw and Delmas indignantly denied that Mrs. Charles J. Holman had sacrificed the daughter for a cash consideration.

Mrs. Thaw said she was chaperoned during her stage career by her mother up to the time Edna Goodrich presented her to Stanford White.

She said her mother made her acquainted with James A. Garland and that her mother accompanied her on trips on Garland's yacht while Garland was a principal in a divorce suit.

Mrs. Thaw declared that her mother and herself received a stated income from Stanford White.

Evelyn Nesbit was 14 years old when she visited the yacht and was accepting money from the architect and under the chaperonage of her mother.

Prisoners Under Military Guard.

Herbert Steptoe, a negro, was indicted at Amherst Courthouse yesterday on a charge of assaulting Gladys Shelton in Amherst county, January 7. Peter Hudson, a negro, also was brought there on the same charge. No bill was returned against Hudson, the first negro arrested, and none is expected.

Immediately after the work of the grand jury was known, Attorney Beasley, representing Steptoe, moved for a change of venue. He cited a new statute requiring this where the military is ordered out by a sheriff's request to protect a prisoner. Judge Aiken took the motion under advisement until today.

The negroes are being guarded by Lynchburg and Charlottesville military, the men camping last night on the court green, while a detachment guards the county jail. It is said that the evidence has strengthened against Steptoe, and there are now many who think that he is the right man. Yesterday a boy was found as witness who saw Steptee running from the house in which Miss Shelton was assaulted, and, when shown Steptoe, he positively identified him as the man.

Steptoe has given many conflicting statements as to his whereabouts at the time that the assault was made.

Today's Telegraphic News

The Thaw Trial.

New York, Feb. 21.—After a conference of counsel with Justice Fitzgerald it was decided not to hold court tomorrow.

Evelyn Thaw was recalled to the stand as the first witness.

The trial room filled rapidly today, and by the time Justice Fitzgerald entered every seat was occupied.

Evelyn's appearance as she entered the court room did not indicate that she had any great dread of the ordeal. Yesterday's success in parrying Jerome's probing had given her greater courage.

A brief consultation was held by Justice Fitzgerald and the attorneys on both sides, after which it was said an adjournment would be taken tomorrow, owing to it being a legal holiday.

The trial probably will not be resumed until Monday.

"Evelyn Nesbit Thaw," called Clerk Penny, and the little girl-wife took the stand.

Jerome read the record on the examination late yesterday afternoon to the effect that she believed all women were bad until she was eighteen and a half years old and until she talked with Thaw in Paris after refusing him on account of her "own unworthiness."

"Did you ever hear of the 'Dead Rat,'" asked Jerome.

"Yes; it is a cafe in Paris."

"Is it a reputable place?"

"I do not know."

"Were you ever there?"

"Yes; people were eating and drinking and I think some one danced. I think it was reputable."

"What time was it? Was it about two in the morning?"

"Probably."

"What sort of a dance was it? Was it a cake walk?"

"No, I think it was a Russian dance."

"You are certain?"

"I remember there was a Russian dance. There might have been a cake walk."

Jerome then showed that he had obtained one of Thaw's letters from Paris.

She said that Mr. Shubert, the theatrical manager, and another manager went with her and Thaw to the "Dead Rat." She said she believed there were some ladies with Shubert.

"Do you know what is meant by 'many of the bunch on the Tenderloin?'"

This was evidently read from Thaw's letter and she replied "I think I do."

"Do you know a Miss Winchester?"

"Yes"

"Did you see her do a cake walk that night at 'The Dead Rat' at 2 a.m.?"

Evelyn could not remember certainly.

Jerome handed Evelyn the letter from which he had read, and she identified it as being in Harry Thaw's handwriting.

"When you were in Paris, after Thaw's proposal, had your opinion of chastity changed?"

"Yes."

"Did you think illicit relations between unmarried people were wrong?"

"Oh, yes."

"I know people thought it wrong, but I suspected all women," she added a moment later.

Jerome questioned her closely about why she wrote to White from Boulogne after Thaw had revealed the truth to her. She said White's extraordinary personality "had a fastening effect in one way, as she thought of him," but she still was very hostile to him. Her mother coerced her to write, she said. She had not told her mother the story of her wrong.

The name of a man whom Evelyn met in the tower studio was not made public. Evelyn whispered it to Jerome and he said he intended to call this man for private examination to establish the date. Evelyn said this man saw her undressed in White's bedroom. She said she went to White's Twenty-fourth street studio within a month after being wronged.

Jerome was pitiless and persisted. He asked about the continuation of her relations with White, which she said continued until the first of 1902, from the indefinite date, supposed to have been in September, 1901. She said she visited the Twenty-fourth street and the Twenty-second street and the tower studios, but always against her will.

When Jerome demanded the details of the first occasion following the original one, Evelyn broke down. Tears filled her eyes. She covered her face with her handkerchief and sobbed.

Jerome was disarmed.

Several of the women writers left the room, and there was a short delay.

Soon, however, the girl witness recovered her composure.

She said she went to the studio against her will; that she thought she had to go; that she became inebriated at times and that she consented only when overpowered.

She said White made appointments by notes and that she wanted to go out to supper, but nothing more. She said White insisted that she go to the studio and she tried in vain to dissuade him.

"And you omitted this from your direct testimony?"

Jerome drew from Evelyn a detailed recital of the various occasions when her relations with White were renewed. Time and again, tears came into her eyes, and her voice shook as she answered. She insisted she had always fought White's advances and that always she was plied with wine until partially intoxicated. She said she had been White's victim more than once in his Twenty-fourth street studio and likewise more than once in his Twenty-fourth street studio and likewise more than once upon one occasion in the Madison Square Garden tower studio.

She could remember only one incident in the Twenty-second street studio.

"White got scared about the Twenty-second street studio," she explained.

Evelyn testified she had told all the pitiful story to Thaw in Paris.

"Did you ever pay a visit to Dr. Carlton Flint?" Jerome asked suddenly.

Evelyn could not remember such a visit.

"Did you ever visit a doctor with Jack Barrymore?"

"No, I did not."

"Sure,"

"Yes, sir."

"In the operations you have undergone were any of them of a criminal nature?"

Evelyn explained these operations had been for appendicitis.

Evelyn recovered her composure as the examination took a new turn. She showed signs of nervousness and frequently sipped from a glass of water. But she showed a determination to get her ordeal over. Jerome offered to excuse her, at noon, but she said she preferred to go on.

Jerome read a letter written by Evelyn to an actress in the "Floradora" company, then playing in London, describing the pleasures of Paris and telling of the visits to "The Dead Rat."

Evelyn admitted that she had an account in a "bank in the Metropolitan Opera House," in the fall of 1901, probably immediately after she was wronged by White. This fund was provided by White, and was entirely separate from the fund in the Mercantile Trust Company in 1902.

The witness swore she had no improper relations with White after January, 1902.

After the usual recess Evelyn again took the stand.

Another Marine Disaster.

Rotterdam, Feb., 21.—The Great Eastern Railway steamer Berlin, bound from Harwich, England, to Rotterdam, was wrecked on a sand bank outside the harbor today with a total loss of life estimated at 141. Tremendous seas washed over the vessel after she struck, breaking her up and rendering assistance impossible. Every soul on board is believed to have perished.

The wreck occurred in sight of land on a dangerous shoal outside the harbor. Within a few moments after she struck the vessel began to break up. It was impossible for the life-boats to live and help from land was cut off by the high waters.

Several Americans are reported to have been aboard the ill-fated steamer and nineteen members of the German Opera Company, returning home after an engagement at Covent Garden, are known to have been in the wreck.

The Berlin left Harwich at 10 o'clock last night, carrying the mail 91 passengers and a crew of fifty men. She had almost completed her voyage when the disaster occurred. The force of the shock when the big steamer went aground evidently shook her to pieces. Her fore part was badly stove in, and the force of the terrific sea which was running quickly beat her to pieces.

Owing to the nearness of the land, the vessel was sighted almost the moment she struck and at first little fear was entertained for those aboard her, as it was expected that she would hold together until the sea subsided enough to allow help to reach her. When it was seen, however, that she was going to pieces before the very eyes of those on shore, but helpless to reach her, the scenes among those on shore were almost indescribable.

Persons on vessels which were almost within speaking say that the passengers and crew of the stricken vessel rushed on deck at the first shock, and that a tremendous wave which swept along carried scores of persons into the sea almost before they realized what had happened.

Efforts were made to swing out the lifeboats, but two of these were carried away before they could be manned and others were smashed by the pounding seas. The full list of dead will never be known, as the officers of the Great Eastern Company say the passenger lists were destroyed with the vessel.

London, Feb. 21.—The Exchange Telegraph Company announces that it has been officialy informed that 160 passengers and the crew of the Berlin were drowned off Rotterdam.

London, Feb. 21.—One passenger of the ill fated Berlin has been saved, according to a report here.

Rotterdam, Feb. 21.—The exact point at which the disaster occurred is just off the hook of Holland, at the entrance to the estuary. The narrowness of the entrance to the waterway and the fearful southwest gale which was blowing were the primary causes of the wreck.

Captain Precious, of the Berlin, evidently miscalculated the force of the gale. The engines were moving slowly and the storm literally blew the vessel onto the bank.

Almost immediately when she struck the steamer crashed into a jetty, then swung out again and broke in two. The fore part sank while the passengers and crew gathered on the floating after part.

Heroic but unsuccessful efforts were made by tugs and life boats to reach the steamer before the after part completely pounded to pieces and finally went down.

The passengers apparently were on deck waiting to land when she struck. Life belts were kept under the pillows in the staterooms and cabins, but the passengers had no time to go below for them before water filled the hull.

The gale blowing at the time of the accident was one of the worst which has prevailed on the North Sea in years.

The Strothers Trial.

Culpeper, Feb. 21.—With no defense save the "unwritten law" as it has been invoked in the South for generations to protect the honor of wife, sister or daughter, Philip and James Strother went on trial here today for their lives. Their killing of William F. Bywaters is not denied. They fired eleven shots into Bywaters as he was attempting to escape from the Strothers home after they had compelled him to marry their sister Viola, whom he had seduced.

The prominence socially and politically of the families of the prisoners and their victims, together with the sensational circumstances surrounding the tragedy, has attracked the attention of the entire South. The little town was crowded today by the friends of the two families and throngs of out-siders who come for miles by rail and in carriages and on horseback to witness the opening of what promises to be one of the most notable trials ever held in this section of the country.

James Strother, one of the defendants is a leading lawyer of Welch, W. Va., and a member of the legislature of that State. He happened to be home on a visit at the time of the tragedy.

The victim, Bywaters, was a clubman, horseman, hunter and a leader in the social set of this county. Viola Strother, his bride of an hour, was one of the village belles.

Early in December last Viola returned from a visit in Washington ill. Physicians were sent for, and to them she confessed that Bywaters had accompanied her to Washington where, in the attempt to conceal the consequences of their relations, he had caused a criminal operation to be performed upon her. She had remained in Washington two weeks under his care, and that of a notorious doctor of that city.

Her confession was repeated to her brothers, Philip and James. They lost no time in hunting out Bywaters and under threats of his life inducing him to marry the girl. According to their story he professed repentance and his love for Viola, and promised to make her a good husband. The brothers procured a license, and that evening the marriage took place. Viola lay desperately sick in bed. The ceremony was scarcely performed when Bywaters said that he must return to Culpeper, some four miles from the Strother home. He was told by the girl's brothers that he must remain and care for her, and they refused to listen to his promise to come back later in the evening. A few minutes afterward he started to leave but was confronted by another member of the family. He then ran up-stairs, through the girl's room, and bolted for the window, apparently intending to climb down from the porch roof. Just as he stepped out of the window, and in sight of his girl bride, the two Strother brothers who had followed him, opened fire. Bywaters fell on the roof dead, his body riddled.

The Strothers will claim that Bywaters intended absolutely to desert their sister, in which event her shame would be published to the community. Also, under the Virginia law, he would have been able later to procure a divorce on the grounds of duress and the fact that he had not lived with his wife after the ceremony.

The prosecution will claim that Bywaters had fulfilled his duty in marrying the girl, and that his death was a cold-blooded murder.

On account of the relationship of Judge Grimsley, of the Culpeper circuit, to the Bywaters family, Gov. Swanson designated Judge Thomas W. Harrison, of Winchester, to try the case. The best legal talent in Virginia will represent the defendants, John Jeffries, of Norfolk, being chief counsel. Micajah Woods, of Charlottesville, noted for his prosecution of the famous McCue case, was retained by the Bywaters family to assist the prosecution.

Before 10 o'clock this morning the clans began gathering in the court house here for the trial. Judge Harrison and the lawyers were prompt to arrive. The accused brothers Philip and James, occupied seats within the bar, while near them sat a considerable number of their male relatives.

Mr Keith, Commonwealth's Attorney, stated that counsel on both sides had agreed that it was inexpedient to get a jury from Culpeper. After some discussion the lawyers agreed to leave this to the bench. Judge Harrison, of Winchester, stated he would prefer for the jury to come from his circuit and counsel readily acquiesced in this.

Deputy Sheriff Bowersett accordingly was directed to go to Shenandoah county for fifty men and the order was made returnable next Monday morning, at 10 o'clock.

Invasion of Nicaragua.

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 21.—Flushed with their victory over the Honduran forces, whose attempted invasion on February 18, they successfully blocked, Nicaragua troops are today carrying the recently inaugurated war in the enemy's territory and a battle of larger proportions than any yet fought, is expected at any time. Several skirmishes in which Generals Vasquez and Fornes, in command of the Nicaraguan troops, are said to have scored heavily, have been reported here.

Reports from the frontier and seat of the two governments continue conflicting, each side alleging that the other has been the aggressor in the present trouble.

Mysterious Death of an Actor.

New York, Feb. 21.—Detectives are today probing what appears to be a deep mystery attaching to the death of Frank McVickers, an actor appearing in "The Man of the Hour." McVickers' body was found early today in the basement of the Hotel Rivoli, with the skull cracked and bearing every evidence of having met with foul play. McVickers was last seen alive at the Lambs Club last night. He left there at an early hour this morning, and the body was found still warm by policeman Elliott, shortly after daylight.

New York, Feb. 21.—The stock market was under pressure during the greater part of the first hour. Many large selling orders, running as high as 5,000 and 10 000 shares in different issues, forced some material declines. At 11:30 o'clock a rumor was circulated in an effort to disturb the market that the Czar had been assassinated. It could not be traced. Before the end of the first hour a steady tone prevailed and a moderate recovery started.

Tablet to Miss de Lagnel.

A handsome bronze tablet erected in honor of Miss Julia Celeste de Lagnel by the Woman's Auxilary to R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, was unveiled last night in the Confederate Veterans' Hall, in the presence of a large gathering. The event was also the occasion of a reception to Lee Camp, the members of which attended in a body. Following the unveiling exercises a light collation was served.

The tablet is set in the wall on the west side of the main hallway, and is the work of George Julian Zolnay, the celebrated sculptor, now of St. Louis. Near the top it bears in bas relief a life-sized likeness of Miss de Lagnel's head, and near the bottom, also in bas relief, is a representation of the flight of "The Conquered Banner."

The inscription reads: "In loving remembrance, Miss Julia Celeste de Lagnel. Born January 23, 1824. Died September 7, 1881. Loved and honored for the purity of her life, the integrity of her character, her many deeds of charity, her devotion to the cause of the Southland. Erected in this, her former home, by the Woman's Auxiliary R. E. Lee Camp, No. 2, C. V., 1906."

Promptly at 8 o'clock the unveiling exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. P. P. Phillips of St. Paul's Church.

Comrade John M. Johnson, of Lee Camp, then delivered an eloquent address on behalf of the auxiliary. He said:

Madam President, and ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary to R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, Alexandria, Va.:

I sincerely wish you had selected someone else to make the address upon the unveiling of this handsome tablet, because I fear I am not equal to the occasion.

The design and the execution of it reflect the highest credit on the taste of your committee and on the skill of the artist. It is an exquisite work of art and according to my non-artistic judgment above criticism.

It was a peculiarly happy thought for you to have decided to place this beautiful tablet, to perpetuate the memory of Julia Celeste de Lagnel, one of the most devoted and patriotic women of the Lost Cause, in this building which was her home for so many years, and in the city where she lived. It may be truthfully said you could not have chosen a truer and more representative woman of the Southland for this honor than she was.

It was said about her only a short while ago that her unselfishness and her generosity entitled her to have this great honor conferred upon her.

I can simply remind you what she was. She was cultured and refined, loyal and gracious, pure in life and pure in heart; a woman of remarkable cheerfulness, courage and spirit.

A friend with her during the war said that no cry of pain ever escaped from her lips, no word of despondency was ever spoken by her. Privations, sufferings and even sorrows did not dampen her ardor. She bore all these with a brave heart and a cheerful face.

My friends, it remains for some competent person to tell of the part played by the women in the war. To tell of their nobleness, their sufferings, their sorrows, their heroism, their toils and their agony of suspense! I am not capable of the task, and, therefore, I will not even attempt it.

Ladies of the Auxiliary, I congratulate you on being one of the first organizations in the South to erect a memorial to a woman; and I, likewise, congratulate you upon your happy choice of the woman.

I have only one more thought to express and it is this: I hope yet to see another monument in our beautiful capital city of the South, and thereon something like this inscribed: God bless our noble Southern women who gave themselves wholly to the cause; who never doubted its righteousness, who never faltered in their loyalty to it, while it lived, and who still hold allegiance to the Lost Cause.

At the conclusion of Mr. Johnson's remarks Mrs. J. Marriott Hill, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, drew the curtain, which revealed the tablet.

Later Past Commander E. C. Graham, of Lee Camp, in a graceful speech on behalf of the Woman's Auxiliary presented a handsome bouquet to Mrs. E. H. O'Brien, who conceived the idea of erecting the tablet, and who was largely instrumental in carrying it to a conclusion.

A musical programme, in which Miss Blanche Yager, Mrs. Thomas Hulfish, Mrs. M. W. O'Brien, Miss Lelia Steiner and Dr. Outcalt participated, was rendered. A light collation was served by the women of the Confederate societies, and all who attended enjoyed a most delightful evening.

Holiday.

Tomorrow, February 22, Washington's birthday will be a legal holiday, and the banks, public offices, and schools, as well as many of the business houses of this city, will be closed. The postoffice will observe Sunday hours. There will be no parade, but the anniversary will be celebrated by services in Christ Church at 11 o'clock, a public band concert at the intersection of Washington and Cameron streets and banquets by different organizations.

Narrow Escape.

Mr. R. N. Roland had a narrow escape from serious injury while at work in the carpenters' shop of the Southern Railway in this city yesterday. One of Mr. Rowland's arms had been caught in some of the machinery, when Mr. W. A. Nalls, with remarkable presence of mind, threw off the belt and prevented what might have resulted in a horrible accident.

To Increase Wages.

Mr. R. L. Sully, manager of the Western Union Telegraph in this city, has received a dispatch from L. J. Maxwell, superintendent in Richmond, announcing the purpose of the company to increase the salaries of operators and managers at all independent offices throughout the country ten per cent. from March 1st.

The Twenty-second.

Every detail to make the afternoon banquet and other celebrations under the auspices of the George Washington Birthday Association has been completed. A handsome and attractive menu has been prepared by Messrs. Rammel Bros. Tomorrow morning, between 11 and 12 o'clock, the hall will be opened for inspection by the ladies. At two o'clock those holding banquet tickets will assemble in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce and proceed therefrom in a body. The toasts are as follow: "George Washington," Rev. C. D. Bulla; "The Neighboring Counties," Judge C. E. Nicol; "Alexandria," Mr. C. C. Carlin; "Virginia," Judge R. T. W. Duke.

Those desiring banquet tickets can purchase the same at the store of E. L. Allen & Co.

The executive committee of the association and others appointed by the president, A. D. Brockett, will assemble at 10 o'clock in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce and proceed from there to Mount Vernon on the palace car "Mount Vernon," conveying a wreath to be placed on the tomb of Washington.

The stand for the band concert is being erected by Mr. J. D. Knight at the corner of Washington and Cameron streets.

The music will be discoursed by the Naval Gun Factory Band of thirty pieces, under the direction of Prof. Jacob G. Moody, bandmaster. The following will be the programme:

March, "The Diplomat," John Philip Sousa; Overture, "Tanhauser," Wagner; Concert Waltz, "Moonlight on the Hudson," Hermann; Trombone Solo, "World's Fair Polka," Marsh (Mr. Albert Schlenkes, soloist); Grand Fantasia on "My Old Kentucky Home," Dalbey (variations for all instruments); Medley, "George Washington, jr.," Cohen; Grand American Fantasia, "America Forever," Theo Moses Tobani. After 45 minutes' intermission the concert will be continued as follows: March, "Brooks Chicago Marine Band," Meitz; overture, "Poet and Peasant," F. von Suppe; waltz, "Golden Sunset," John T. Hall; Medley overture, "When the Whippowill Sings, Marguerite," Helf and Hager; selection from opera "Il Trovatore," Verdi; march comique, "Old Settlers on Parade," Dalbey; finale, "Star Spangled Banner," Key.

The festivities of the day will be concluded at the annual banquet given by Alexandria Washington Lodge of Masons. Dr. T. B. Cochran, Master of the lodge has appointed the several committees and has completed all arrangements for making the banquet one of the most notable ever given by the lodge. The lodge room will be handsomely decorated and an orchestra will furnish music. A number of ladies of this city will serve the banquet. Several prominent speakers have been invited to make addresses during the evening. A representative of Beverly Lodge of Beverly, Mass., will be present.

The Columbia Fire Company will also give their annual banquet at night. The former banquets given by the Columbia Company have proven to be interesting affairs, and that tomorrow night will be equally as enjoyable as those of by-gone years.

Candidates.

Mr. C. C. Carlin, who has been out of this city for the past few days, has returned and today made announcement of his candidacy for Congress. He has received assurances of support from prominent men in every county in the district, and says he feels confident of winning the race.

The other avowed candidates in the field are Mr. J. H. Ryan, of Loudoun; Judge C. E. Nicol, of Prince William; and Mr. Lindsey Gordon, of Louisa. Mr. J. G. Hiden, of Culpeper, has not yet decided whether he will be a candidate, and it is reported that Judge White, of Fauquier, will soon announce that he will not be a candidate for the position.

The Weather and the River.

The weather is crisp and cold again, the temperature having fallen during the night. The sky has been clear today.

There is nothing new to report on the river. The Baltimore boats and those running between Washington, and Alexandria and the lower Potomac landings have resumed their trips. The steamer Washington of the Norfolk line, arrived up on time this morning. The officers report having encountered much drifting ice between Indian Head and Marshall Hall.

The three-masted schooner Grace C. Benedict is being loaded with gravel for Norfolk by W. A. Smoot & Co.

Death of Mr. Hudson.

Mr. Thomas Hudson, a well-known resident of this city, died about 8 o'clock last night after a lingering illness at his home on north Fairfax street. Death was due to consumption. Mr. Hudson was about 43 years of age. His wife and one daughter survive him. He was a member of the local lodge of Woodmen, and of Sarepta Lodge of Odd Fellows. The deceased was a native of Fredericksburg and a plumber by trade.

A bill has been passed by both branches of Congress removing the disabilities of Dr. Julian Miller, of this city, thus making him eligible to appointment as a surgeon in the navy. This appointment will, it is said, at once be made by the President. Peabody Fund.

None of the Peabody educational fund, established by George Peabody, of London, in 1867, and amounting to between $2,300,000 and $2,400,000, will be distributed among the educational institutions of the southern States at this time. This decision was reached after a six-hour meeting of the trustees of the Peabody Education Fund at the Arlington Hotel, in Washington, yesterday, which meeting was called to consider the matter. It was also decided that the next meeting of the trustees shall take place in New York city in November next, when it is expected that the proposed distribution of the money set aside by Mr. Peabody in aid of education in the South will be divided in accordance with his will.

Prof. Wickliffe Rose, of the Peabody College of Teachers, was chosen General agent of the board to succeed Dr. Green, of Boston, who will act as Secretary. Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan was present.

Jamestown Island Sold.

Jamestown Island, comprising 1,600 acres of land, has just changed hands, the property being acquired by D. R. Creecy and associates, some of whom are Norfolk capitalists.

The acquisition carries with it absolute ownership of the island, with the exception of about 20 acres, the property of the Historical Society of Virginia. Before Creecy and his associates closed the deal the former owners of the property had signed contracts with the Old Dominion Steamship Company of Richmond for all privileges of landing on the island. These contracts had to be assumed by the purchasers. No other contracts so far as is known, have been entered into for the right of landing.

The purchasers are now forming a company which will operate its own line of boats between the Exposition grounds and the island and between the island and Richmond.

Bryan Attacks Rockefeller.

Col. William J. Bryan, in an interview in Columbus, Ohio, yesterday attacked John D. Rockefeller's recent gift of $32,000,000 to the general education board.

Mr. Bryan said the oil king should have given the money back to the people from whom it had been wrested by illegal methods. He asserted that the people should not allow themselves to be subsidized into acquiescence as to these wrongful business methods.

"The size of Mr. Rockefeller's gift should not blind the people to the methods by which this vast sum of money was made," said Mr. Bryan. "The money, it seems adequately proven now by many investigations, was extorted by wrongful business methods from the people, and it would have been better to return it to the people to whom it belonged directly, if that could have been done, rather than to have attempted to subsidize the people into acquiescence as to the wrongful business methods in this way."

Nothing has occurred, says Mr. Bryan, to cause him to alter his opinion concerning the government ownership of railroads.

Endorsed by the County.

"The most popular remedy in Otsego county, and the best friend of my family," writes Wm. M. Dietz, editor and publisher of the Otsego Journal, Gilbertsville, N. Y., "is Dr. King's New Discovery. It has proved to be an infallible cure for coughs and colds, making short work of the worst of them. We always keep a bottle in the house. I believe it to be the most valuable prescription known for Lung and Throat diseases." Guaranteed to never disappoint the taker, by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Insane Man in Court.

A man thought to be insane, yesterday caused commotion at the trial of Steve Adams for the murder of Fred Tyler, in Wallace, Idaho, by springing up near the defendant and shouting:

"It is the heart that moved the hand. I am the man that killed Fred Tyler. Turn all these other fellows loose, for I am the man that done the deed."

The words and appearance of the strange man, whose hair was long and black and whose stubby beard and wild eyes gave him a strange aspect, caused the defendant to turn pale and Mrs. Adams to burst into tears.

The officers hurried the stranger from the courtroom to the sheriff's office. There he said his name was Patrick C. Ryan, of Butte; that he had just finished a term in Deer Lodge penitentiary for stealing mutton, and after being released he had gone to Burke where Roosevelt's daughter had told him to go to Wallace and take charge of this case. He said if Adams was convicted an earthquake would destroy the Coeur d'Alene. Ryan will be committed to an asylum.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Piles of people have Piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve and get relief. Nothing else so good. Beware of imitations. See that the name is stamped on each box. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant, and safe Syrup, called Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure for Croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for Croup, that's all. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

J. O. U. A. M.

Judge Grinnan, in the Chancery Court, of Richmond, yesterday issued an order against the loyalist faction of the Junior Order United American Mechanics summouting its members to appear before him March 13 and show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court. The charges of contempt are based upon the fact that the loyalists attempted to do business in Virginia after the decree against them was entered.

The loyalists were defeated on an appeal to the United States Supreme Court and immediately got a charter from the State Corporation Commission under the name "Virginia Branch of the Junior Order of United Americans." The incorporators were J. W. Forbes, T. T. Osborne and John T. Cox, all of Norfolk. They are made parties defendant in the contempt proceedings.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater, & Sons, druggists.

Only a little cold in the head may be the beginning of an obstinate case of Nasal Catarrh. Drive out the invader with Ely's Cream Balm applied straight to the inflamed stuffed air-passage. Price 50c. If you prefer to use an atomizer, ask for Liquid Cream Balm. It has all the good qualities of the remedy in solid form and will rid you of catarrh or hay fever. No cocaine to breed a dreadful habit. No mercury to dry out the secretion. Price 75c, with spraying tube. All druggists, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS.

AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.
Guaranteed under the food and drugs act, June 30th, 1906. Serial number 1098.
